The indications for the twenty-four hours, commencing at 3 p. m. to-day, for Missouri are: Local showers, followed by fair weather in the northern portion; fair weather in the southern portion; variable winds; slightly warmer in the northern portion; stationary in the southern portion.

OUR anti-dust petitions are gathering volume.

THE Hendricks Association should apply for a change of name; also for a change of heart.

It is very likely that the peculiar style of Democracy which tried to reduce the Democratic majority for Congressman GLOVER will increase the Democratic majority in the Penitentiary.

THERE are two kinds of Democrats in St. Louis, those who have been indicted and those who have not. The Post-Dispatch will try to prevent the party from being run by those who have been indicted.

MUNICIPAL slates made up in cool disregard of pending Grand-jury investigations, are liable to be badly shattered and to have their symmetry ruined by a conviction and sentence made up in cool disregard of the noble art of slate-making.

If there is to be a serious collision between our Municipal Government and the United States Court, we hope it will not be over the question whether certain men should be inducted into office or into the Penitentiary.

FROM present appearances a called session of Congress will be needed not only to put down the taxes, but to put down the opposition of the Interstate Commission to the enforcement of the interstate commerce law.

WE may expect the dust fakers of St. Louis to fight hard for a sprinkling monopoly which pays them a quarter of a million net on an investment of nothing, but we propose that hereafter the people shall get the quarter of a million and the dust fakers shall retain their investment.

THE Post-Dispatch to-day records two first-class slugging sensations: one near Hurricane, Ill., between ED KELLY and DAN DALY of St. Louis for $250 a side, and one at Jefferson City between State Auditor WALKER and ex-Judge HENRY of the Supreme Court for pastime. The sporting season opens with a fine prospect for other diversions besides base ball.

THE morning paper telegrams mention that the mines of the Ellsworth Coal Company at Danville, Ill., have been closed, partly on account of the loss of the Washab contract, partly "on account of the interstate commerce law." On the other hand the railroads are doing a larger business than ever before in their history, and the consumption (and production) of coal was never greater than now.

BY no class of people are the anti-dust petitions signed more willingly than by the guests at the hotels. There these petitions are made duplicates of the register. The names are not those of residents, but they are people who have a right to petition. The visitors to the city have to swallow their rations of dust just as the residents do, and one of the greatest evils of the dust is its pernicious activity in keeping visitors away from an otherwise pleasant and attractive city.

WE do not see how the President can get around the necessity of summoning Congress to meet the first week in October. Secretary FAIRCHILD has on hand more than enough of available surplus to take in all of the 3 per cents. But he has concluded to omit the monthly bond calls till the end of the current fiscal year, in order that the purchase of 3 per cents may be applied to sinking fund purposes, and thus avoid the necessity of paying a premium on 4 per cents to meet sinking fund requirements. But whether he will thus save more in his subsequent purchase of bonds not subject to call than he will lose by letting the interest run on redeemable bonds remains to be seen. He will have to go into the market and pay a premium on 4 per cents anyhow, or let the surplus continue to swell at the rate of $10,000,000 a month, to the embarrassment of trade, until Congress reduces the taxes.

THE story about Senator SHERMAN's narrow escape from capture is discredited by newspapers that meet at the idea of intelligent Cuban outlaws expecting any ransom from such a capture. If their ideas about SHERMAN were drawn from American newspapers, however, they probably considered him a prize worth having, regardless of ransom. The climate of Cuba is very hot and in the interior ice is a rare and costly luxury.

IN view of anticipated difficulties in securing the presence of traveling theatrical companies in Chicago a number of enterprising gentlemen have organized what is called the "Chicago Conservatory Stock Company," composed of local talent selected from the leading ladies in Chicago amateur theatricals. This is not a live stock company, as might be supposed, but an effort to put the drama on its feet in Chicago, provided there is room enough on the stage for the feet.

IT would be a sad sight to see the United States Marshal rushing into the City Hall with striped suits for newly-robed officials. It is to be hoped that the Municipal slate will be arranged with careful reference to such a contingency, since it has been discovered that United States Courts are so much less accommodating in such matters than our State Supreme Court. The latter cannot deprive Judge THAYER of jurisdiction over ballot-box-stuffing cases now, as it did before he was transferred from the State Courts to the United States Courts.

EX-SENATOR BARNUM of Connecticut and of Back-bone Land Grant fame, seems to be engaged with Millionaire Congressman SCOTT of Erie in nominating and re-electing Mr. CLEVELAND in the New York City lobbies. It is the prominence and leadership of such men in the Democratic party that drove 50,000 of its voters into the Henry George ranks in the last New York City election. If the Democratic party is to hold its own in the next contest, it must take some pains to avoid the appearance of being run by plutocrats or job-boosters.

BUFFALO BILL is a representative Westerner, and the Great West will please notice that when he took his band of Choc-taws and cowboys to the Drury Lane Theater in London to see the "Forty Thieves" he gave the performance a good send-off by setting the signal for such a whoop of applause as has not been heard in Drury Lane in all its long history. This little bit of manliness is all the more refreshing when contrasted with the course of the British Mohawks and pemmen who have been scalping and tomahawking poor little Mrs. POTTER for daring to appear on the stage without consulting them.

IT is impossible not to admire the pluck of the amateur engineers, who propose to improve the levee by changing it to a sea-wall. Just how far down the foundations will go to get beyond the scour of the contracted channel is unknown, but it is known that there is a difference of some forty odd feet between low-water and high-water level, and this will make the unloading of a steamboat at low water quite a picturesque spectacle. It is likely that the cost of the work will compel a low tariff of switching charges for the roads which will use its roadway, but expense is not to be considered in comparison with the great object, which is "Anything to beat the Merchants' Terminal."

THE continual clash between Land Commissioner SPARKS and the head of the Interior Department is attracting just such attention as would be paid to the comic antics of a pair of puppets. SPARKS rules regularly against the land-grabbers and is as regularly overruled by his chief, who sometimes even disregards the written opinions of the Department's legal adviser in adhering to Republican precedents and favoring the "business interests" that have so long fattened on Interior Department favors. Every time SPARKS rules and is overruled there is a fresh rumor that he is tired of acting as the figurehead of land reform only to be made the butt of his enemies, and that he will make a square issue with the Administration by resigning. As he takes good care never to resign, the comedy is becoming rather tediously monotonous.

THE announcement that the Sullivan Combination would visit St. Louis has evoked the virtuous indignation of the Police Commissioners who have openly permitted sparring exhibitions which were much more serious violations of the law than the Sullivan exhibition. The law against exhibitions of boxing is a silly one, but as long as it is a law it should be enforced. No violation by boxers of this absurd law, however, can be as grievous an offense as the contempt for all law and principle shown by those who have charge of the enforcement of the law and who enforce it in one case and ignore it in a dozen others. We do not propose to give the long catalogue of slugging matches which have taken place with the consent of the present Board of Police Commissioners, and frequently with scores of uniformed policemen looking on and applauding, but it has been only a few weeks since Masonic Hall was crowded for the slugging match between the Daly Brothers, given to console the loser in a prize fight; the fight between "TOMMY" WARREN and PIERCE MURPHY at the Palace Theater was not a boxing exhibition, but a desperate and bloody fight, and ED KELLY has been allowed to give the liveliest kind of a sparring exhibition with JACK BURKE, and again with MCCOY, at the Casino. Bearing these little incidents in mind, it is hard work pumping up any admiration for that official zeal which now responds to newspaper clamor by forbidding the Sullivan exhibition.

Invading Europe.

From the New York Journalist.

A statement is going the rounds to the effect that Joseph Pulitzer, proprietor of the New York WORLD, is to start a Philadelphia edition soon, and that a San Francisco edition of the WORLD is also under consideration. Like many a newspaper story, the statement is half truth and half fiction. The WORLD will issue no Philadelphia edition, and the San Francisco edition consisting of the regular New York edition plus two pages of special Philadelphia matter. Commodious offices have been taken in the Ledger building, and a local staff has been organized of which Mr. G. B. M. Harvey is the manager. For the present the composition and press work will be done in New York, and the paper will be sent down on the WORLD's special train leaving New York at 2:30 a. m. Special wires have been leased between Philadelphia and New York, and no hint has been set to the expense. It is quite on the cards that press facilities and composing-rooms will be established in Philadelphia, and the Philadelphia WORLD may as an independent, local, four-page paper, having the regular New York edition folded in. As yet the San Francisco edition exists only in the imagination of the newspaper paragraphist, though it is quite possible that such a move may be made by the WORLD in the future. The rumors concerning a paper to be started in London, England, by Mr. Pulitzer had more foundation than mere newspaper gossip, though the plan has been deferred for the present. Mr. Pulitzer believes that there is room for a live daily, run on the American plan, in the metropolis of the world. He sailed last Saturday for Europe to join Mr. T. C. Crawford, now looking over the ground. It is very likely that he will show the Englishmen how to run an American newspaper before many months.

Durham's Reformation Elixir.

Washington Dispatch in the Baltimore American.

A long correspondence between Judge Durham, First Commissioner of the Treasury, and United States Commissioner Barber of Montgomery, Ala., growing out of the settlement of the latter's accounts, has elicited a witty letter from the latter to Hon. J. Altheus Johnson, chief of the judicial division of Judge Durham's office, under date of April 16. The letter is a masterpiece of wit and humor, and is a most interesting study of the many examinations of my office and criticisms on my conduct as an officer, that I had been especially selected as a suitable subject upon which to test the efficacy of a new medicine, called "Durham's Reformation Elixir," and if the remedy effected a cure, I was permanently cured, and I was fed to the world in broken doses. But learning that everybody else had been fed with the same spoon from the same bottle, and in big doses, without regard to politics, fear or favor, I did not think that I was permanently cured. I have really, honestly and conscientiously tried to please the accounting officers, and if I have failed to do so in my more recent account it is because I did not know how to do it.

Mr. Johnson answered on April 18 as follows: "Your favor of the 16th inst. has been received. I am not ready to pronounce the patient permanently cured, but I think he is convalescent. Milder medicines may answer the purpose now; but I shall continue to keep on hand a good supply of 'Durham's Reformation Elixir' to be used in the case of a relapse."

From the New York Evening Post.

The Irish "outrages" are playing precisely the same part in British politics to-day which the Southern outrages for some years played in American politics. They furnish precisely the same kind of reason for keeping the Tories in power which the Southern outrages used to furnish for keeping the Republicans in power. What the Tories have done or can or will do to prevent outrages in Ireland, does not appear any more than what the Republicans did or could do to prevent outrages at the South. The Tories, therefore, are kept in power as a sign that Englishmen abhor outrages, and the Republicans are kept in power as a sign that the Northern people abhor outrages. The air in England is full, too, of terrible stories of what the Irish would do if they were let alone in the way of plots against the empire, and as the air here is full of stories about the capers the ex-rebels would cut if the Republican party went out of power. Moreover, a large portion of the Irish outrages are reported in the form of "anecdotes," as Mr. Gladstone said, instead of statistics, just as the Southern outrages were reported in the form of "anecdotes," as Mr. Tilden said, instead of statistics. In England, too, the names of the victims of the outrages and of the localities in which they occurred are frequently withheld in order to prevent fresh and more dreadful outrages. In like manner, the names of the authors of the Southern outrages were withheld in order to prevent fresh and more dreadful outrages. The result is that the South is made to suffer for nothing.

Schools in Europe.

From the Pall Mall Gazette.

In Russia there are 22,000 schools, having each an average of 36 scholars. This is one school for 2,300 inhabitants, at a cost of less than a half-penny a head of the population. In Austria, with 37,000,000 of inhabitants, there are 29,000 schools and 3,000,000 scholars. The average number at each school is 104 and the cost per inhabitant 94d. In Italy, for 28,000,000 of inhabitants, there are 47,000 schools, one school for every 600 people, at a cost of 84d. per head. The average number of pupils at the schools is 40. In Spain there are 3,900,000 schools, 29,000 schools, giving an average of 56 in each school and one school for every 600 inhabitants, as in Italy. The school bill comes to 1s. 2d. a head. The number of schools given for England is 18,000, which is one for every 600 inhabitants, with an average attendance of 52 per school, and a cost of 1s. 6d. per head. The German school system costs every 700, giving a total of 60,000 schools, with 100 pupils in each, and 1s. 7d. per inhabitant. France has 71,000 schools, being one for every 500, with 66 in each school. France would, therefore, seem to have more schools than any other great European country. The schools cost the country 1s. 25d. per inhabitant.

Abstemious Southern Senators.

From a Letter to the Washington Union.

There are a great many Southern Senators who do not drink at all. There is Maxey of Texas, who is succeeded by Reagan. The latter is also a total abstinence advocate. Colquhoun of Georgia is one of the most high-toned Christian gentlemen ever in the Senate. He was a Major-General in the Confederate army, and one of the dearest fighters the South possessed. He graduated at Princeton previous to the war. When there is any question of morality concerned in a question before the Senate, Colquhoun leads the ranks in support, no matter how the party lines are drawn. Senator Morgan is also a total abstainer. Senator Gibson of Louisiana would vote for prohibition if he had an opportunity. Senator Hanson of North Carolina says he has not tasted a drop of liquor for many years, and is in favor of high licenses and not prohibition.

I think there could be a great many Senatorial names counted up on the Republican side who drink more "pizen" than their brethren in the South. I think I could mention one New England Senator who consumes a sufficient quantity for the supply of any two of the Southern States, barring Virginia and West Virginia.

The Surplus Here and There.

From the New York World.

The Budget of the English Chancellor of the Exchequer shows a probable surplus of less than $5,000,000 in the revenues for next year. Whereupon the Finance Minister proposes to take 1 penny per pound sterling off the income tax and 4 pence per pound sterling off the tobacco tax and to reduce the tax on marine policies.

This is the way of dealing with unnecessary taxation under a Government described as an "effete monarchy." It prevents a surplus for even a single year by the staple and just expedient of reducing the taxes.

The American Secretaries of the Treasury for the past six years have notified Congress that the revenues were largely exceeding the legitimate needs of the Government. Secretary Manning has shown that the Government has actually collected the enormous annual surplus of $10,000,000 for the last seven years. But the House of Representatives has twice refused even to consider the question of tax reduction.

The serious illness at Paris of Pere Hyacinthe is reported.

The subscriptions thus far received for the Beecher Memorial reach $11,500.

The author of "Vice Versa" is F. Anstey, an educated son of a London tailor.

LORD LANSDOWN is said to be the most unpopular Governor-General that Canada has ever had.

CHARLES A. DANA has resigned, but he was the editor of the Lawrence Mass. Eagle, not of the Sun.

ONE of the eleven heirs of the $30,000,000 left by the late Charles Lux of California is M. E. Lux, a traveling salesman of Chicago.

JOHN SWITZER, who is a published card that he has no fund raised in his behalf. He is an object of interest, but not of charity.

THERE have never been two years in the history of America when so many prominent men have departed this life as in the last two.

J. B. FUGER, who has been appointed by the President as the Canadian Commissioner of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, was formerly a resident of Albany, N. Y.

STATEMENTS are current to the effect that Senator Don Cameron is making $100,000 a year by real estate operations at the national capital.

An Englishman who boasted of having shot seven tigers, five lions and nine elephants was put to flight by a Washington hack driver the other day.

ON his eighteenth birthday Kaiser Wilhelm gave his medical attendant, Dr. Von Lauer, a purse containing $27,000, and on his nineteenth birthday, $25,000.

It is reported that ex-Mayor Carter H. Harrison of Chicago will soon start for California with his family. He will visit Asia and make a tour around the world.

PAUL FRYAL of Paris wrote 120 love stories, which were published in novel form, and yet when he died there were only two carriages and less than a score of people at his funeral.

It is the opinion of Mr. Whitelaw Reid, solemnly expressed to Deacon Richard Smith, that if the Republican National Convention could be held within a month no power could prevent the nomination of Mr. Blaine on the first ballot.

JAMES H. MARR, Chief Clerk of the First Assistant Postmaster-General's office, is dying.

GEORGE HANDY SMITH, President pro tem. of the Pennsylvania Senate, the best-dressed man in the Keystone State, is called "the Duke of Southwark." It is said that he frequently wears a red velvet suit and a diamond watch chain, and is a constant source of envy and admiration to his brother Senators.

WOMEN OF THE WORLD.

The estate of the late Catharine Wolfe is worth about $30,000,000.

The Englishmen of Cleveland will celebrate the Queen's festival with a banquet and ball.

Mrs. EMMONS admits that she has designs upon the stage, and confesses to having written a play.

ROSS COUNTY, Ohio, has a singular woman who is accused of incesting that she is 109 years old when she is only 82.

THE hair which Jacob Deville pulled out of his wife's head was weighed in court, and there were almost two ounces of it.

IN Ralls County, Mo., a young woman in front of a farm-house waved her hand at a traveler, and in three days they were married.

A BOSTON doctor says that the women of New England are eaten up with rheumatism and neuritis, and most of it comes from wearing cotton stockings in the winter.

ONLY a girl who has run a type-writer at $4 per week and finally married her employer can enter a dry goods store and paralyze a lady clerk receiving $5 per week. It's no use for a millionaire's wife to try it.

MRS. NILSSON, under the terms of her marriage, retains entire control of her property. It is not known how much it amounts to, but, including her new mansion in Sweden, it must be considerably over a million dollars. Her husband has only a moderate fortune.

AFTER the death of Principal Tulloch of St. Andrew's, Queen Victoria granted to his widow a pension of $1,000 a year from her private purse. Mrs. Tulloch is now dead and the Queen announces that the pension will be continued to her three unmarried daughters.

LUKE FORT has gone to California, where he hopes that the "tearful climate" will cure the throat trouble from which he has suffered more or less during the past season and which compelled her to give up her part in "Lorraine" in Chicago in the middle of last week.

MR. BENT was hanged, not long ago, in Odham. Bent had been engaged in twitting his daughter. Recently an auction sale of her effects was held. The result was a great financial success. The weird interest attaching to a murderer's relics added an unwonted value to her belongings. A bill dress brought $15.

Dancing in a garment once owned by an executed criminal is an experience denied to most people, but, apparently, worth a good round sum.

A PRETTY novelty in Washington entertainments will be introduced by Mrs. Whitney in May, when she will hold her Wednesday afternoon receptions in the farm house at "Grassland," to which the guests will drive, and have strawberries and cream served in the wide rooms of the hospitable farm-house.

METROPOLITAN PRESS.

What the Editors of the New York Journals Are Saying This Morning.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 26.—THE WORLD says: "An Administration organ says that the report concerning Mr. Cleveland's determination to decline the nomination next year has resulted in another demonstration of his immense strength with his party and with the country. To this every newly appointed official in the country will respond 'amen.' The old-fashioned Democrats, who have accepted for offices and have not received them, will possibly not be so enthusiastic."

THE TRIBUNE says: "First, a trustworthy report from Washington says that President Cleveland will not accept a renomination. Second, a trustworthy report from Washington says that the report that President Cleveland will not accept a renomination is not a trustworthy report. Third, a trustworthy report from Washington says that the report that President Cleveland will not accept a renomination is not a trustworthy report. Fourth, a trustworthy report from Washington denies this last report."

THE TIMES says: "As the June examination approaches at the military and naval academies the list of vacancies in the two services existing for the graduating classes is very anxiously watched. It is quite certain that there will only be a little more than half enough vacancies in the second lieutenant grade in June to accommodate the West Pointers, but the law passed by the last Congress will at least enable about twenty out of the thirty-three cadets who are ending the course of sea service in the naval academies to be placed in the navy, the balance of their appointments to respectable positions, there may be chances under the law for nearly all the annual graduates from Annapolis."

THE SUN says: "Mr. Cleveland should be nominated for the Presidency in 1888, as the Democratic candidate, if it be the wish of the people, and the Democratic party are bound to be beaten. It would be a mistake to suppose that the Democratic party are bound to be beaten with any other man who could possibly be selected; and if any Democrat is satisfied that there is no hope, he should desire to see the nomination conferred on Mr. Cleveland. If we should be defeated, it is a defeat we would advocate that selection."

A Reference to an Allusion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The question of changing the name of the Hendricks Club is now under discussion. The idea is a good one and I would suggest that the name be changed to the "Egan-Morrissey-O'Connor combine."
